I understand that, under the Health Insurance Portability & Accountability Act of 1996 ("HIPAA"). I have certain rights to privacy regarding my protected health information. I understand that this information can and will be used to:

- Conduct, plan and direct my treatment and follow-up among the multiple healthcare providers who may be involved in that treatment directly and indirectly.
- Obtain payment from third party payers.
- Conduct normal healthcare operations such as quality assessments and physician certifications.

I have received, read and understand your Notice of Privacy Practices containing a more complete description of the uses and disclosures of my health information. I understand that this organization has the right to change its Notice of Privacy Practices.

I understand that I may request in writing that you restrict how my private information is used or disclosed to carry out treatment, payment or health care operations. I also understand you are not required to agree to my requested restrictions, but if you do agree then you are bound to abide by such restrictions.

NOTICE OF PRIVACY PRACTICES

THIS NOTICE DESCRIBES HOW MEDICAL INFORMATION ABOUT YOU MAY BE USED AND DISCLOSED AND HOW YOU CAN GET ACCESS TO THIS INFORMATION. PLEASE REVIEW IT CAREFULLY.

Effective Date July 1, 2009

It is the intent of this Notice of Privacy Practices (“Notice”) to inform individuals and patients of their privacy rights regarding uses and disclosures of their protected health information (“PHI”) as required or permitted under applicable law, including the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (“HIPAA”). This Notice describes how protected health information may be used for treatment, payment or other operations involved in obtaining treatment from and providing payment to Pain Specialists of Charleston, P.A. (“Practice”) for services rendered by its physicians. Protected health information is information about a patient that may be used to identify them, such as name, address or social security number.

Statements of Use and Disclosure:

- Treatment. The Practice will use PHI for the provision, coordination and/or management of health care and related services. Those services could include, but are not limited to, the treatment of chronic and acute illnesses and the facilitation of specialized services.

Example: Your physician will routinely use information about you for the treatment of an illness. That information may be used to prescribe medications through a pharmacy, or forwarded to another physician for additional consultations or treatment necessary for your health. Your PHI may be used in ordering laboratory or other diagnostic tests.

- Payment. The Practice will use PHI where appropriate to facilitate payment for treatment or health care related services rendered by the Practice.

Example: When a Practice physician renders a service to you that is to be paid by a health plan, a claim for that service must be created. The claim will contain information about you to include the type of treatment provided by your physician with a diagnosis justifying the treatment. Depending on a diagnosis or treatment, the Practice may request additional information about you before a payment for service is issued. If a specific test, procedure, or hospital stay is recommended for your treatment, the Practice plan may request additional information about you. Any disclosures for payment process through a financial institution or consumer credit agency relating to the collection of past due balances will not include information about any diagnosis or condition you may have or any treatments you may have received.

- Operations. The Practice will use PHI as needed to maintain its operations.

Example: PHI may be used in the Practice for management purposes, quality control programs, and compliance training and/or auditing. PHI will be disclosed as required by law in order to avoid a serious or imminent threat to someone’s health or safety. Operations within the Practice that utilize PHI may be found on patient sign-in sheets, or when the nurse calls a patient’s name from the waiting area.

Other disclosures allowed by law

- The Practice may utilize PHI in various activities that involve a third party or “Business Associate.” Under all circumstances a contract will be used with a third party or “Business Associate” requiring the same legal standards as those imposed on the Practice for protecting and securing a patient’s private PHI.

Example: The Practice may from time to time use a billing service which may involve the disclosure of PHI.

Other disclosures allowed by law (continued)

- We may use your PHI for treatment, payment or health care operations in an emergency situation despite any inability from you to object or accept if the physician or the Practice believes there is an imminent threat to your health.
- The Practice may use your PHI to notify or inform a member of your family, a close friend or someone of your choosing about any information concerning your health or condition. If you are unable to agree to or object to a disclosure necessary for your care, your physician will use his/her best judgment in determining the best person to disclose this information.
- We may disclose your PHI if your physician has reason to suspect you have been a victim of abuse, neglect or domestic violence.
- Subject to certain requirements, we may also disclose PHI without your authorization for public health purposes, auditing purposes, research studies, funeral arrangements and organ donation and workers' compensation purposes.
- Additionally, we may contact you to provide information about treatment alternatives or other health-related benefits and services that may be of interest to you.

Other disclosures required or permitted by law:

- The Practice may disclose PHI to such federal agencies as the FDA, law enforcement officials, for law enforcement purposes, or as ordered by a court of law, without your written consent or authorization.
Example: PHI may be disclosed if such information is considered relevant to a criminal investigation, or PHI may be given to the Centers for Disease Control for the sake of the public health to limit the spread of a communicable disease. These types of disclosures will only be made as permitted or required by law.

Other Laws:

- To the extent that state laws are more stringent than HIPAA regarding the use or disclosure of your PHI, that law is followed. Examples of specific disclosure rules in South Carolina include:
  - Physicians, hospitals, and other health facilities must provide the health department, upon request, access to their medical records, tumor registries and other special disease record systems as necessary for its investigations. S.C. Code Ann. 44-1-110
  - In responding to a request for medical information from an insurer, a physician may rely on the carrier's representation that the patient has authorized release of the information. S.C. Code Ann. 44-115-50.
  - A physician may sell medical records to another physician or osteopath, but must first publish notice of his intention and of the patient's right to retrieve his or her records before a sale. S.C. Code Ann. 44-15-130.
  - Specific disclosure rules apply to genetic information, S.C. Code Ann. 38-93-30; sexually transmitted diseases, S.C. Code Ann. 44-29-70, 44-29-135 and 44-29-136; mental health, S.C. Code Ann. 44-22-90; and cancer reports, S.C. Code Ann. 44-35-40.

Patient Authorization:

- The Practice will not disclose a patient's PHI, other than disclosures previously mentioned, without a signed authorization.
- A signed authorization permits all disclosures separate from disclosures made for treatment, payment or health care operations. A patient may revoke the authorization in writing at any time. The moment the authorization is revoked all future disclosures will stop; however, any disclosures already made in reliance of the signed authorization may not be undone.

Statement of Individual Rights:

- A patient may request restrictions on specific uses or disclosures of PHI. However, the Practice is not required to agree to a requested restriction.
- A patient has the right to request confidential communications of PHI such as sending mail to an address other than to your home. The Practice will attempt to honor all reasonable requests.
- A patient has the right to inspect and receive copies of their PHI. If you request copies, we will charge you $0.25 for each page.
- A patient has the right to request the amendment of their PHI if it is believed that information in the records is incorrect or missing. However, the Practice has the right to refuse that request under certain circumstances.
- A patient has the right to request an accounting of disclosures of their PHI other than disclosures made for treatment, payment and health care options.
- Regardless of whether the Notice was originally sent as a paper copy or an electronic copy, a patient has the right to obtain a paper copy of this Notice from the Practice at any time upon request.

Our Legal Duty:

We are required by law to protect the privacy of your information, provide notice about our information practices and follow the information practices that are described in this Notice.

The Practice reserves the right to change or revise its privacy practices at any time. Notification of those changes will be provided in a new Notice and provided to all patients, with copies available to any person upon request. If you have questions at any time regarding permitted uses or disclosures of your PHI, or if you have questions regarding the Notice of Privacy Practices, please contact our Compliance Officer, Amy Hack, at 843.818.1181.

Complaints:

If you feel that we have violated your privacy rights or if you disagree with a decision we made about access to your records, you may issue a complaint to our Compliance Officer, without fear of retribution from physicians or staff of the Practice. As the patient or person who believes the Practice is not complying with a requirement of the Privacy Rule within HIPAA, you may also file a written complaint, either on paper or electronically, with the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.
